Orchestra To Give Concert Tonight

Featured work on the Southern Illinois Symphony concert tonight will be "Three Themes for Orchestra," by Robert Mueller of the SIU music department. The 67 piece orchestra will present the concert in Shryock auditorium at 8:15, under the direction of Maurice Kerner, chairman of the music department.

Mueller's "Three Themes for Orchestra" is what may be termed a "Revolt" against the theory of con-

Schubert's numerous short works for orchestra, although it was originally written for piano.

The "Surprise Symphony" has achieved great fame mainly through the legend connected with the second movement. Haydn, at the time of the work's composition, was in the services of a famous Austrian. Every night after dinner Haydn and his orchestra would give a concert. Many of the listeners were often stuffed with food, and if the music became a little too soft, they would doze off. Haydn, being a very mischievous person, decided to play a trick on these people.

The second movement starts very slowly and softly with a theme and variations. It then goes into a passage of accented chords, the last of which is the loudest of the piece. The first time the theme is played the chord is not hit with much power, but the second time this one chord comes in, it is hit with great accentuation so that the effect will be as if the orchestra took great delight in such musical jokes. It not only embarrassed the dozers but also gave him a certain satisfaction of proving that when he wrote music he intended for it to be listened to.

temporary music having to be complex in order to be good, according to the composer.

Mrs. Edith Garrison, soprano, will be the soloist in a performance of "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio" from "La Forza del Destino" by Verdi. Also by Verdi.

Other compositions on the program will be "Marche Militaire" by Franz Schubert, "Symphony No. 94," better known as the "Surprise Symphony," by Franz Joseph Haydn, and "Southern Rhapsody" by Johann Strauss.

"Marche Militaire" is a very popular concert march with a tinge of the military combined in its melodious strains. This is one of

Performing Otters To Give Program At SIU March 26

By Larry Conner

Don't get shaken if you happen to see a brood of otters cavorting about in the fish pond next month. Chances are that they will be members of Emil Liers' famous troupe of trained otters. Liers and his otters are scheduled to make their appearance in Shryock auditorium March 26.

Liers' wards are just common brown otters from the forests of Minnesota; however, he has been breeding a colony of otters for 25 years and at that time he has organized a performance much like that given by trained dogs, seals, monkeys, etc. However, he has incorporated new twists which would only be possible with otters.

If you happened to read the Jan. 12 issue of Life magazine, you probably saw Liers and his otters; they were shown in their native Minnesota home and also on one of their frequent lecture tours.

During the 25 years Liers has been keeping his otters, he has given up all other activities and has become lecturer, author, and adviser to zoo keepers. Liers was an adviser to Walt Disney in his production, "Beaver Valley."

Liers and his troupe are being brought to campus under the auspices of the University Lectures and Entertainment Committee.

Happy Vacation!

Immediately following final examinations, which end this Friday, March 6, Southern's annual Spring Vacation will begin. The vacation will continue until March 16 when classes will begin for the third term of school this year. Classes will begin at 8 a. m. The Egyptian will not appear during the remainder of the vacation. This will be the last issue of the student paper until March 20, when the new staff which was elected this term will take over.

Maazel and the orchestra will open the program with "Cuban Overture," a work inspired by Gershwin's brief vacation trip to Havana.

"CONCERTO IN F" for piano and orchestra will be presented by Santoma and the orchestra. This concerto was previously premiered at Carnegie Hall in 1925, when Gershwin himself played the solo part.

Selections from "Porgy and Bess" will comprise the third number of the program. One of Gershwin's most ambitious works, "Porgy and Bess," was composed in eleven months and orchestrated in nine.

In the opening scene of "Porgy and Bess" Clara, the wife of Jake, the fisherman, sings the beautiful lullaby "Summertime" to her baby. When it fails to put the baby to sleep, Jake, portrayed by Uppman, takes the child and sings "A Woman is a Sometime Thing," a warning about the ways of womanhood.

"THE SECOND" song in the "Porgy and Bess" series, is "My Man's Gone Now." The song is a lament by Serena, who is portrayed by Miss Long, following the murder of her husband in a carp game by the villainous Crown.

"Bess, You Is My Woman Now" is sung by Uppman in the part of Porgy and Miss Long in the part of Bess. The song revolves about the story of how Crown flees the scene of the murder of Serena's husband, his woman, Bess, goes to live with the crippled beggar, Porgy. Porgy and Bess sing their love in this memorable duet.

"GERSHWIN Fantasies," which was arranged by Peter Bodge of Boston will include such all time favorites as I Got Rhythm, Fascinating Rhythm, Strike up the Band, Who Cares, Love is Sweeping the Country, and Somebody Loves Me. These selections will be played entirely by the orchestra.

Written in 1928, the fifth portion of the program will be devoted to the score of "An American in Paris." The score captures the gypsy, bohemian spirit of the twenties in Paris, where the greater portion of the score was composed.

The score of "An American in Paris" suggests an American tourist swinging lazily down the Champs Elysees on a bright spring morning. Here he is introduced to the sights and sounds of Paris, French cabarets, and cafes. Eventually the inevitable homesickness overcomes him, but another American, a "self-confident Charleston without a drop of Gallic blood," appears on the scene, and a general tone of optimism prevails at the end of the selection.

President Morris To Give Union Dedication

President Morris will give a few dedicatory remarks at the opening of the new Student Union on March 16 at 8 p. m. The dedicatory remarks will be given at the opening followed by a German student who will furnish music, and various games which will entertain students and faculty attending.

The interior of the Union wing will be done in such unusual colors as congo brown, terra cotta, parchment, and butterscotch yellow. The Student Union proper has also received a dose of the same colors and has undergone a face-lifting job for the last 10 days.

A main feature of contemporary design is a corrugated metal partition which will be used as a backdrop for a handstand. The furniture can be easily and quickly moved for dancing.

There will be six different areas where students may gather in groups. Furniture will include four large couches and two six foot coffee tables. Lighting will be indirect.

Such type chairs such as those used in the Allyn building, will be used in the grouping areas as will be molded plastic chairs. The couches will be the conventional innerspring soft type with foam rubber cushions.

Two conference rooms, outfitted with a large table and chairs, are intended to give ample meeting space for 20 to 30 people, and will be located in the older part of the building.

The tables and chairs, from the present Canteen, will be placed in the canteen area of the Union, along with a soda fountain, coffee, sandwiches, and fountain products will probably be served, but there will be no cooking done in the area.

A pocket billiard table and two ping pong tables will help serve the recreational needs in the Union. All students who use the billiard table will be charged 5 cents per game to maintain the upkeep of the table and equipment, according to Miss Betty Greenleaf, director of student activities.

Laurence Lee To Speak at Chamber Commerce Meet

Laurence F. Lee, keynote speaker at an SIU regional conference on March 27, was prominent as a lawyer and an insurance executive before he was recently elected president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Lee's address will open a two-day conference on "New Developments in Agriculture, Business, and Labor."

Before his election to the presidency of the national Chamber of Commerce organization, Lee served as vice-president.

He graduated from the University of New Mexico and received his law degree from Yale. Among other organizations he is a member of the American Bar Association, Institute of Life Insurance, Association of Life Insurance Councils, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Delta Phi, and the Rotary Club.

University officials said that the purpose of the conference is to encourage Southern Illinois leaders in industry, business, education, agriculture, and labor to make a more aggressive and unified effort in helping in the area redevelopment process already begun.

The rifle team of Ohio Wesleyan University fired a composite score of 1912 to beat SIU's ROTC team by 19 points. The match was held on the week ending Feb. 22.

Cadet Bill Kamm again led his team with a 373 total score. Bill fired a perfect 100 score in the prone position and followed up with a 97 and 95 in the next two positions. The standing position was Bill's undoing, however, as he posted a 81. Cadets Gerry Sanner, Lavern Coffey, Curtis Hartley, and Jerry Hollister completed the team firing in that order.

High man for the Ohio team was Bob Dickmann. He fired a 376 total score with a high individual position score of 98, kneeling. There were no perfect scores fired by his team.

received a visit to Southern's ROTC Unit by a Korean pilot. The pilot will be one of 18 veterans who are being sent to all the ROTC Units to stimulate flying interest.

The young pilots, all lieutenants, will conduct informal talks with the advanced students at 200 detachments located throughout the United States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico on their experiences while in flight training and descriptions of their present flying duties.

On temporary duty with the AF ROTC from other Commands, the pilots are primarily first flight pilots. In combat, they fly either the United States has in Korea except the B-29.

Wanted picked, the majority of the group are college graduates, and they will visit their own schools as well as others in their home area during their 90 day temporary duty with the AF ROTC.

Reason for the special visits was explained by General Dieckmann, AF ROTC Commandant, who emphasized that due to Air Force requirements, the majority of the future AF ROTC graduates should put in for flight training upon entering active duty.

The name of the officer who will speak here at SIU and the date he will arrive has not been released as yet.

It has been the policy of the column to trace back in Egyptian of past years, what was then, head line news. These news highlights have usually been condensed into one or seven itemized paragraphs. However, a story which appeared in the March 24, 1949, issue of the Egyptian seemed too novel to reduce to one or two paragraphs. So here is the article as it appeared back in 1949.

FOUR YEARS AGO . . .

"Three Southern Scientists' Make Balloon Experiment."

Three Southern students, the Virginia police, a small toy balloon, and a Cardinale shoe store figured in a strange tale which took several days to unravel.

It all began Feb. 24, when three Southern students got a free balloon at the opening of a Cardinale shoe store.

The balloon, a cheap toy variety, was filled with helium. The boys, Leroy Medley, Thompsonville; C. F. Stanford, Salem; and Rance F. Holland, McLeansboro, wondered like thousands of other people have wondered about similar balloons, how long the balloon would go if it were untied loose.

The trio attached a blank check to the balloon and wrote their names on it. However, in order to make it more formal, they decided to call themselves doctors and professors.

The following day a resident in Waverly, Va.—more than 1000 miles from Cardinale—found the balloon and notified the police in Petersburg, Va.

The police went to work and soon the Cardinale shoe store, who, in turn, notified the boys. Medley said that they had hoped the balloon would go as far as Kentucky or Indiana, while Stanford was even more pessimistic about the journey. He said, "It wasn't going, and I didn't think it would go past Crab Orchard."

Statistics were not available, but it is believed to be one of the longest flights ever taken by a toy balloon.

And there you have one of the main headline features of 1949. If one would take the liberty of punning, it could perhaps be said that this was one story that didn't go over like a lead balloon.

Each time that a group of students who are enrolled in the physical geography course which instructs Dallas A. Price, are given the opportunity to tour points of interest which lie within easy access to Cardinale, he has the tour is conducted for the purpose of studying first hand the water and soil resources and the vegetation of the region.

ONE of the important stops of the tour was at Big Springs in Missouri, according to Price. Here it was noted that the general lack of water was reflected in the flow of the spring.

The operation of iron mines at Iron Mountain, Mo., was also observed. Much interest was shown, according to Prof. Price, in the "included valleys" which were seen in Missouri. These valleys correspond somewhat to shallow bowls.

Price said that one of Missouri's natural wonders is being destroyed by commercial interests in the quarrying of granite at Graniteville, Mo. Here, he said, the formations known as "Elephant Rocks" are being blasted away by companies which use the stone for building materials and for monuments.

ANOTHER stop of the trip was made at Pilot Knob, Mo.

Those who made the trip are Dan Moore, Betsy McCann, Dorene Stanley, Dorothy Sharp, Eta Mosley, William Gale, David Combs, James Hart, John England, June Heimann, Marie Nickoloff, Nancy Bergfeld, Harry Frost, Charles Ross, and Ruth Durham.

Poll Shows Students Disapprove Of Dorm Drinking, Dating Till Dawn

Collegiate morals are higher than the popular stereotype suggests, as indicated from results of the Associated Collegiate Press National Poll of Student Opinion.

The vast majority of students are: (1) against drinking in dormitories, and (2) against staying out too late with their dates. Women are more "strict" about these matters than men.

Students were asked their opinions on dormitory drinking rules. Here are the results:

Should be allowed—16 per cent. Should not be allowed—75 per cent.

No opinion—6 per cent. Other—3 per cent.

Only 12 per cent of the women are for dormitory drinking; 82 per cent are against it. "I don't believe in drinking," period," exclaimed a sophomore coed from Geneva College, Pa.

A freshman in Engineering at Southeastern Missouri State College thinks dormitory drinking should be allowed, because it "would keep them out of trouble in taverns."

And a business student at Richmond Professional Institute, Va., declares, "The more restrictions that are imposed, the more people will want to break them. College students should be treated like adults."

One male, it appears to be the most popular hour for getting a girl back to her dormitory after a Saturday-night date, with 2 a. m. being a not very close second. Students were asked: "In your opinion, at what hour on a Saturday night should a date be required to get back to her dormitory?"

The answers:

By midnight or before, 14 per cent. By 2 a. m., 45 per cent. By 2 a. m., 24 per cent.

On Other Campuses

By Artie Trippel

AT LOUISIANA STATE U.—Student deferments may not be here to stay on a temporary basis, according to Lewis B. Hershey, U. S. Selective Service Director. "The time for action is here," states Hershey. "Now that the drafting of freshmen as an imminent prospect of the next distant future, we certainly must look toward the colleges with something more than just an apprising eye."

Draft boards are already dipping deep into the 19-year-old group, and it already appears inevitable that some college students will be deprived of deferments.

The "Daily Reveille," campus newspaper here at LSU, recently ran a significant cartoon depicting a serious hunter, labeled "Selective Service," and aiming his rifle at a bird named "College Deferments."

The cartoon questioning caption: "Dear Duck?"

AT NORTH CAROLINA U.—This campus quip may bear the title, "Spoils System," or "Democrats Accept Quid." At NCU, Richard Nixon was elected treasurer of the Young Democratic Club. He is a distant cousin to Vice-President Richard Nixon.

AT IDAHO U.—An interesting article of debate appeared in the IU forum, "Appointments." The article asked the question, "Are Credits Mature?" In many states, when girls are 18, they are considered old enough to get married. In all states, they are old enough to join one of the women's military services. When the girl graduates from high school, she has her choice of going on to college, securing a job, or getting married. It is assumed that in all these instances, she has enough sense and maturity of judgment to take care of herself.

Yet at IU, the girls are always closely observed like inmates of an institution," according to the article's continued debate. "Their supervision is closely related to high school. The girls are not allowed to be scrupulously checked off by the girls report to their house-mothers not later than 10:30 p. m. week-day and 1 a. m. on weekends. If the IU Coeds are treated like young stern, chances are they will act accordingly."

The article went on to declare that it isn't the wish of the co-eds to stay out until the wee hours of morning, but rather to be more reasonable.

AT TEHRAN U. (IRAN)—When the Law School at TU in Iran admitted only 250 out of 1,500 applicants, law students went out on a protest strike. Other students joined them. After several days of the strike, the Law School gave in and accepted its acceptance quota from 250 to 800.

IN SYRIA—Syria, with a population of approximately four million, has one state university, with 2,400 student enrollment, and an engineering college containing an enrollment of just 86. The state University of Damascus is located in former military barracks that the French abandoned during the war years of 1945.

AT PORTO U. (PORTUGAL)—Students here have a solution to the problem of final exams; they simply want to abolish them. Their main reason: talented students often flunk the finals, while the mediocre ones obtain good grades.

Their substitute: In the professors judge them on the basis of the practical exercises given throughout the semester.

SIN To Be Test Center

Cagers Take Last Contest

By Jim Kahanman

It's all over now, and as things happened, basketball coach Lynn Holden can sit back, put his feet upon the desk and say, "Yes, sir, the boys did just about everything right that last game." Lynn can say it, the spectators can say it, and we imagine that was pretty much the thought in the minds of Indiana State's basketball team as they lost to the Salukis in the 1953-54 season final Saturday night, 76-58.

For the Salukis they did just that, everything right, in handling a strong Indiana team a sound defeat, after being down, 38-37 at halftime.

This was no pushover team, Indiana State. They were the boys who just a few weeks ago handed Eastern's conference champion team their first home-court defeat in four years. The boys from across the border really played the Indiana fast-break to perfection, and it took a red-hot third quarter rally by the Salukis to bring SIU close to victory.

Led by John Cherry, Ray Rippelmeyer, and Jack Theriot, Southern outscored Indiana in that third frame, 26 points to 10. Both teams cooled off the last quarter, Southern getting 13, and Indiana 10, mostly because Southern played it slow, waiting for good openings before shooting.

That third-quarter stint, during which time the Salukis were hotter than a Missouri-Pacific diesel, was the big difference. Cherry led the Salukis in the period with eight points, and Rippelmeyer got seven.

Two WAA basketball teams journeyed to Principia College at Elsah, Saturday, Feb. 21 for a return match. The first game was played at 2 o'clock and the other followed. THE WAA has received an invitation to attend a basketball Sports Day at Normal on March 21.

THE PROFESSIONAL Club is in the midst of a fund raising campaign to send delegates to the mid-west convention of the AAFHEP, which is to be held at Madison, Wisconsin on April 29. The girls will be gone from April 28 to May 2.

The Club has had several projects to raise money, the biggest of which was the chili supper Wednesday evening. It was a joint project with the Home Economics Club. There was an estimated crowd of 200 people.

The Club has also checked coats at the basketball games, and they plan to have a work day at the first of the term to raise more funds for the convention.

Sarver Picked As Toughest Foe

Bill Sarver, Illinois Normal's hot-shooting guard, was picked by the Salukis on both their all-opponents team from the IIAAC and all-opponents team from all squads played this season.

All five Eastern Illinois players were named to the first and second team when the Salukis voted for the toughest players they had faced in conference games. Here are the ones they picked:

First team: Forwards Norm Parberg, Eastern, and Cleon Gilliam, Michigan Normal; Center Don Richards, Illinois Normal; Guards Bill Sarver, Illinois Normal, and Roger Detto, Eastern.

Second team: Forwards Martin Chulowich, Eastern, and Jack Penger, Western; Center Ed Taylor, Eastern; Guards Bob Lee, Eastern, and Webster Kirksey, Michigan Normal.

On the all opponents team chosen from all teams played during the week, besides Sarver, Forward Ron Friesel and Guard Jim Lamkin of DePaul; Center Bob Kovs of Millikin and Forward Howie Berggren of Illinois Wesleyan.

Against Indiana the team hit for a 380 field goal percentage, as compared to 273 for the Sycamores. Southern hit 27 out of 71, and State got 18 for 66. Jack Theriot had the best percentage for Holder's boys with 5 baskets in 8 attempts for 62.5. Both Theriot and Cherry hit 50%.

Crookum and Sfredo led the State boys with 13 points each. Jim Adkins got 11.

And all in all, it hasn't been such a bad season. Holder loses only: Thate and Cherry of his first 24, and 12 is a pretty big nucleus to start a season with, plus a couple more talented boys who should plant their feet here next year.

Two Coaches To Address Clinic

Speakers for Southern's coaches' clinic March 27 will be Lee Ellinger, University of Illinois basketball coach, and George Marshall, head coach at Michigan Normal, according to Leland "Doc" Lingle, clinic manager.

Huskies Ready To Defend IIAC Wrestling Crown

Northern's Huskies, defending champs in the IIAC, will get their first taste of tournament competition this season when they participate in the Wheaton College Invitational tourney.

Last week the Huskies closed their dual season by losing 4-11 to Wheaton College, giving Coach Bob Kahler's crew a mark of three wins, two losses, and two ties over the season.

This week the Huskies will put their IIAC crown on the line when they play host to the other conference schools in the annual grappling derby, which is coming to DeKalb for the first time, March 7.

NI's three vicarities were over Western, Eastern and Illinois Normal. The losses were to Beloit College and to Wheaton, while two draws were fought out with SIU and Wheaton.

Undeclared Junior John Reimer, 130 pounder from Elmhurst, is the mainstay of Northern's team. Reimer was undeclared last year too and is after his second IIAC title. He won his first as a 137 pound sophomore. This season at 130 pounds he has won three matches by fall and four by decision.

Another Northerner going into the Wheaton match with an enviable record is Tom Sims, a 167 pound grappler, with a record of five wins, a loss and a draw.

Ray Rippelmeyer Is Voted Most Valuable

Ray Rippelmeyer has been named Southern's most valuable basketball player by his teammates.

The 6'3" sophomore forward was top scorer and rebounder for the Salukis during the 1952-53 season.

He wound up with 368 points in 24 games for an average of 15.3 per game.

Rippelmeyer made Southern's starting five last year as a freshman. He was fourth in scoring last season with an 8.2 game average.

Although he had a few off nights, Rippelmeyer was Southern's most consistent high scorer. His highest single game total was 30 points made against Northern Illinois.

Forward Bob Nickolaus and Guard Harvey Welch ranked second and third in individual scoring for the season. Nickolaus had 358 points in 21 games for an average of 12.3. Welch had 256 in 24 games for an average of 10.7.

Other scoring averages for the Salukis: Chuck Thate 9.1; John Cherry 8.5; Gib Kurtz 8.1; Jackie Theriot 5.6; Dan Smith 4.6; and Jack Morgan 3.9.

Southern Track Field Schedule

SIU track and fieldmen will compete in several dual meets and three multi-team meets this season.

In addition Southern will compete in the first annual invitational meet at Normal and the conference and district championships. The schedule:

April 8—Southeast Missouri at Cape Girardeau.

April 11—Western Illinois at Carbondale.

April 18—Missouri School of Mines at Rolla.

April 28—Southeast Missouri at Carbondale.

May 2—Illinois Normal at Normal.

May 5—Eastern Illinois at Carbondale.

May 9—(Normal Invitational) SIU, Normal, Western, Eastern, Northern.

May 16—Washington U. at Carbondale.

May 22, 23—IIAC at DeKalb.

May 29, 30—NAIA at Macomb.

Tennis Team Has Five Lettermen

Things may look up for Southern in the sports line as far as tennis is concerned. All five of last year's lettermen are out for practice, according to Coach Jim Wilkinson. An experienced team such as this may be able to boost Saluki sports standing.
